WEDDINGS

Schulte-Gillespi.

pretty wedding was solemnized in Micoti, Ga., Thursday morning, when Miss Lorena Schulte, formerly of Mem-phic, became the bride of Mr. Frank Gillespi.

Mrs. Gillespi is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Schulte and is a young memory of wonderful attractiveness, while Mr. Gillespi is a prominent business man of this city.

After a delightful auto trip through Attanta, Chattanooga and other Southern cities Mr. and Mrs. Gillespi will milder their home in Memphis.

Riel-Wheeler.

Announcements are being received by the many friends of Sergeant and Mrs. Fred G. Wheeler, the latter formerly Miss Adeline Louise Riel, of their marriage on December 27, 1917, just pravious to Sergeant Wheeler's departurs for France, and cleverly kept a secret by the young couple until the return of Sergeant Wheeler with the 30th division.

ENTERTAINMENTS

Luncheon at Club.

Luncheon at Club.

The brilliant luncheon to be given at the Country club by the Higbes Alumnae association will be one of the most delightful social events of the post-Lenten season. May 9, the date which has been selected, will be eagerly awaited by the many loyal friends of Miss Jennie M. Higbes. This luncheon, though arranged as the regular social feature given each year by the alumnae, takes on unusual significance because it is to be given for a special purpose—to raise funds to mark Miss Higbes grave. The beautiful monument in Overton park, which was erected in memory of Miss Higbes, stands a lasting tribute to her life work in the olty of her adoption, but as yet no stone marks her last resting place in New Jersey.

It is this work—this last tribute which the Higbes Alumnae association has set itself to do. To this luncheon are invited every former student of the Higbes school and every teacher at any time connected with this institution.

Mrs. John D. Martin, the newly elected president, will receive reservations up to Wednesday night, May 7.

An interesting program of music and toasts will be presented by the following women: Mmes. Savilla Driver Martin, Virginia Frazer Boyle, Antoinette Tucker-Fooshe, Suste Long Buck, Carrie Bassett Barnes, Sue Berry White, Mary Lane Miller, Ione Adam Ages, Theodore Carroll Reynolds, Stella Vaccaro Byrne and Frances Falls Austin and Miss Dorothy Gilliland.

Adam Dale Bridge Party.

Adam Dale chapter, D. A. R. was beautifully entertained Friday afternoon by Mrs. W. J. Lilley, of Des. Moines, Is., in the home of her mother, Mrs. G. E. Bailey, 1080 Peabody avenue. Mrs. Roy Culbertson, of Minneapolis, Minn., sister of Mrs. Lilley, and her mother, Mrs. Bailey, assisted charmingly in receiving the guests. After the usual business meeting tempting luncheon course was served.

Mrs. Hoes in describing the museum collection of gowns limited to those of the respective mixtresses of the White House, unconsciously contributes to the history of good dressing, as the wear an always modish and becoming evening gown of rare old lace inherited and treasured by many of the Monres and Gouveneurs, which is brought up to date over a foundation or soft black satin draped on becoming lines.

Miss Maude Gouveneur in walking down Connected avenue one morning recently, were a conservative, but wellrecently, wore a conservative, but well-tailored suit in serge, black with white collar, cuffs and waistcoat, and as usual with this young woman, who always knows her own mind, high boots of white bucksty. of white buckskin

On the next block the visitor who cels everybody in Washington is some-cody, had her opinion confirmed by meeting a handsome young woman tan-colored suit of very severe with low brown exfords and round of brown straw, who was pointed out to her as Mrs. James Wadsworth, Jr. wife of the senator from New York younger daughter of the late John Hay and in her own right president of the and in her own right president of the National Antisuffrage society.

Two other interesting figures on the same morning a walk were Mrs. H. B. Beale, youngest daughter of the is James G. Blaine, now in deer mouting for her may child, a gallant your officer, killed in action early in it winter, and Mrs. Medil Mediumber wife of the newly elected armater fra illinois. Mrs. McCormick, like your Mrs. Wadsworth, wore a severely pix tallored suit in light-colored cloth with tailored suit in light-colored cloth round semitaliored hat.
